FOREWORD

The continuous movement of persons across the globe has inevitably led to increased attention to migration and the development of countries of origin, transit and destination. Migrants are increasingly being viewed as agents of development and governments are making increased efforts to engage their citizens and their descendants in matters pertaining to national development and welfare, especially in developing states where Diaspora investment and enterprise complements Official Development Assistance (ODA) as a key developmental factor.

Within this context, Jamaica developed and has been implementing a National Policy on International Migration and Development (IMDP) of which Diaspora and Development is an integral component. However, being cognizant of the tremendous value and opportunities that the Diaspora contributes to national development, it is imperative that the Government of Jamaica (GOJ) increase its efforts to build mutually beneficial partnerships and relations that advance the welfare of country, citizens at home and abroad, and generations across the globe to achieve their fullest potential.

The National Diaspora Policy will provide a framework for working in partnership with the Diaspora with a dual purpose - first, the Diaspora contributing to Jamaica’s sustainable development and second, Jamaica assisting members of the Diaspora to address social and economic issues and to prosper where they reside in host countries worldwide. The underlying features of this National Diaspora Policy are that it is centered on the people, the places from which they come and currently reside, prosperity agendas, facilitating peaceful Jamaican communities and trusted partnerships. This National Diaspora Policy is therefore seeking to maximize the value of Diaspora contributions to Jamaica’s development while at the same time addressing issues and concerns of the Diaspora and assisting them to live in harmony and to prosper in host countries where they and their descendants reside.
The policy development process was led by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Foreign Trade (MFAFT) which worked in collaboration with the Planning Institute of Jamaica (PIOJ) and members of the National Working Group for International Migration and Development (NWGIMD).

The MFAFT is grateful to all the stakeholders, institutions and persons who contributed to the development of this new Diaspora Policy. We hope that the strategies and expected results of this Policy will maximize the value of the contributions of the Diaspora to Jamaica’s national development and simultaneously contribute to the growth and prosperity of the Diaspora.

Permanent Secretary and Head of the Foreign Service
Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Foreign Trade
EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Preamble
The National Diaspora Policy reflects the commitment of the Government of Jamaica (GoJ) to pursue diaspora related strategies and initiatives that are mutually beneficial to national development processes and the wellbeing of its diaspora population. The Policy is in keeping with Vision 2030 Jamaica – National Development Plan and is a comprehensive framework and guide to harness the power of the diaspora to ensure that Jamaicans at home and aboard are empowered; the Jamaican society is secure, cohesive and just; the economy is prosperous; and that the health of the natural environment is enhanced.

The GoJ through the work of its respective Ministries, Departments and Agencies (MDAs) will work assiduously to ensure improved integration of Jamaicans into national development and that the rights of Jamaicans in the diaspora are protected and their contributions acknowledged and valued. The GoJ also commits to enacting this legislation to ensure that its foreign policies and negotiations take into account, issues and challenges being faced by the Diaspora population that may impede the achievement of their fullest potential.

Definition of Diaspora
The term Diaspora will be used to refer to Jamaicans and their descendants who reside outside of Jamaica.

Background and Policy Context Migration is closely intertwined with the development of countries worldwide. In the case of developing countries, like Jamaica, this relationship is of critical importance as they are both sending and receiving countries, with migrants providing critical support for their social and economic development. These migrants and descendants eventually become the diaspora and have issues and needs in the countries where they reside, for which home countries need to support finding effective solutions.

Within this context, Jamaica has developed and commenced the implementation of a National Policy on International Migration and Development of which Diaspora and Development is an integral component. Diaspora development within the context of the migration and development nexus is considered to be a positive consequence of the migratory patterns of Jamaicans and their descendants. The migration and development nexus is premised on the basis that migration provides opportunities for enlarging a person’s freedom while facilitating opportunities for social and economic advancement.

The GoJ has committed to providing the enabling environment for the realization of the vision, goal, outcomes and actions of the National Diaspora Policy as well as establish and implement the necessary legislative, policy and governance frameworks required for the successful implementation of the Diaspora Policy.

The National Diaspora Policy
The purpose of the policy is to establish the Government’s commitment to broad inclusion of the Diaspora in nation-building, recognising the tremendous capacity, interests and resources within the distinct diaspora groupings and aligning programmes and initiatives to respond to the opportunities and challenges being faced by the Diaspora.

The policy envisages that by 2030, there will be:
Transformative engagements and partnerships providing an enabling environment for the empowerment of the Jamaican Diaspora to realize their fullest potential and enhance their wellbeing while optimizing contributions to national development
The policy framework anticipates that the value and worth of diaspora to the country will be enhanced, while systems for the delivery of goods and services, and resource mobilization for programmes and initiatives will utilise this framework as the basis for prioritisation and planning. The policy also serves as a framework for creating standards and protocols that facilitate the quality of life of the Jamaican Diaspora.

The guiding principles behind the policy provide a foundation that underpins the conceptualisation, context and philosophy of the policy. They include trusted partnerships, inclusive participation, respect for human rights and gender equity, mutuality and intergenerational engagement.

In support of the global thrust for credible engagement of Diaspora in economic and social life, the policy is founded on five pillars that support inclusion, well-being and development. These are: people, place, prosperity, peace and partnerships.

The National Policy for Diaspora has established seven major policy goals. These are:

Goal 1: Increase Diaspora engagement and participation in national development planning

Goal 2: Facilitate and recognize Diaspora institutional mechanisms, networks and partnerships

Goal 3: Create enabling environments that optimizes Diaspora investment, trade and advocacy

Goal 4: Promote research and measurement of Diaspora contributions to development

Goal 5: Enhance service delivery to diaspora populations

Goal 6: Promote human capital exchanges, return and integration of diaspora populations

Goal 7: Promote the wellness and safety of members of the Diaspora and Jamaican communities at home and abroad

In capturing all of the above, ten thematic areas have been defined for the National Policy for Diaspora, the Government and its partners, with the input and active Diaspora participation will pursue the following strategies related to:

1. Socioeconomic engagement and participation
2. Human exchanges, transfers and philanthropic initiatives
3. Integration and reintegration
4. Economic inflows, investments and trade
5. Physical environment, safety and security
6. Governance
7. Engagement of Diaspora Youth and Young Adults
8. Diaspora Tourism and cultural exchanges and inclusions
9. Legislative and policy reform
10. Data and Information

Institutional Arrangements, Monitoring and Evaluation

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Foreign Trade (MFAFT) is the lead entity tasked with ensuring the successful implementation of the National Diaspora Policy. The Diaspora Affairs Department (DAD), within the Ministry, will have primary responsibilities for policy implementation and monitoring. Through strengthened capacities, partnerships and the facilitation of an enabling environment for diaspora engagement and involvement, the Government will facilitate the implementation of a governance framework that will guide the successful implementation of same.

A monitoring and evaluation framework with appropriate indicators and targets will be integrated and aligned with Jamaica’s International Migration and Development Policy to support the National Diaspora Policy.

Funding
Funding to support the implementation of the National Diaspora Policy will largely be secured through the Government’s annual consolidated budget. Through diversified sustained partnerships, the Government will raise additional funding from international partners, private sector and the diaspora to support specific components of the Policy.
1. INTRODUCTION

1.0 Background

Diaspora, refer to groups of people/persons who identify themselves as being from Jamaica, and who often share certain values, generational and cultural linkages. In the past, technology and distance often played an inhibiting role in preventing Diasporas from connecting effectively with their ‘homelands’, and arguably facilitated more effective and thorough assimilation and integration of Diasporas into new host countries. More recently however, and particularly in the past two to three decades, the communications revolution and rapid transformation of transportation has made it much easier for people to migrate and explore international linkages and business opportunities. This has entailed members of Diasporas attempting to utilize their cross-cultural skills to their own benefit, often developing people-to-people links across diverse sectors including business, trade and science.

The Jamaican diaspora is defined as the collective of long-term emigrants and their descendants, who are currently resident abroad. The Diaspora has long been a strategic partner to the Government of Jamaica in its development pursuits. However, this partnership has largely been silent and typified by the absence of formal recognition, engagement and placement of a value of its contribution to national development. Jamaica has the second highest Diaspora population among Caribbean islands (behind the Dominican Republic) with particularly large numbers of skilled emigrants among the ranks living abroad. Studies have shown that the persistent cultural affinity and patriotism of the diaspora can motivate individuals to contribute to the development of their home country.

Therefore, Diaspora and Development denotes a host of issues regarding: the Diaspora, the home country, the relationship between the two; the relationship between the Diaspora and host country; and the interaction between governments in the home and host countries, including issues relating to rights, citizenship, protections, the environment and governance.

For the purpose of this Policy, Diasporic engagement and ‘Diaspora and Development’ can be considered a three-fold issue:

- development of the Diaspora in the host country
- Diaspora’s involvement in homeland development
- partnership and interaction between the Diaspora and institutions in the country of origin

The renewed attention given to Diaspora and development in the global community in the last decade has revived questions on how diaspora can contribute to development. The various meetings of the Global Forum for Migration and Development since 2007 have promoted a growing awareness on how migration and specifically diaspora gains - both economic and social remittances – can be harnessed to contribute to the development of the Diaspora, countries of origin and countries of destination. The political will to integrate diaspora into development planning at the national level has involved concrete efforts, which resulted in the need to formulate a policy that will guide strategic actions over the next decade and a half.

1.1 Policy Context
Jamaica’s history and development have been significantly shaped by the forces of migration. The paths for migration have diversified since the country’s independence in 1962 and with the opening up of opportunities for migration and employment in countries such as the United States of America (USA), United Kingdom (UK) and Canada. The result of this movement is a large group of Jamaicans and their offspring, which currently reside outside of Jamaica.

For the purpose of this Policy, Jamaica’s definition of its Diaspora is consistent with that used by the International Organization for Migration (IOM), in which the Diaspora is broadly defined as individuals and members or networks, associations and communities, who have left their country of origin, but maintain links with their homeland. This concept covers settled expatriate communities, migrant workers based abroad temporarily, expatriates with the nationality of the host country, dual nationals and second/third- generation migrants and beyond.

In recognition of the value and importance of the migration and development nexus and the role the migrants play as a development agents in influencing the national development landscape, the Government of Jamaica believes that it is timely and necessary to establish and maintain mutually beneficial relationships with the Diaspora and make known their commitment to advocate, serve and respond to the needs of its Diaspora population which is estimated at three million inclusive of 1.5 million first generation.

1.2 Purpose of Policy
The National Diaspora Policy aims to achieve the following outcomes:

1. Increased trust and co-operation between the Diaspora and Jamaica and greater confidence in engaging with Jamaica;
2. The strengthening of systems and mechanisms for the establishment and extension of investment and support for businesses operating in the Diasporic economy;
3. The development of a more cohesive approach to the Diaspora that addresses some of the more pressing challenges faced by this group at home and in the countries in which they reside;
4. Overall strengthening of engagement between the Diaspora and Jamaica through improved systems and processes, including communication;
5. Enhanced contribution of the Diaspora in Jamaica’s social and economic development;
6. Reduction of costs, scaling up and strategic targeting of philanthropic engagement as informed by national and community development plans;
7. Increased role of the Diaspora through Diaspora diplomacy and activism; Greater national and cultural affinity to Jamaica;
8. Increased understanding among the Diaspora and Jamaicans at home of the variety of ways in which they may partner for mutual benefit; reduction in duplication in roles and functions of existing organizations in the Diaspora;
9. Strong engagement with private sector and civil society who serve the Diaspora;
10. Increased communication and coordination between the Diaspora and the Government and Jamaicans at home;
11. Stronger and more empowered Diaspora community and a more prosperous Jamaica.
2. SITUATIONAL ANALYSIS

HISTORIC MIGRATION PATTERNS AND GROWTH OF THE DIASPORA

Jamaica’s history and development has been significantly impacted by migration. In the 19th to early 20th century there were discernible waves of migration to Panama and Costa Rica, respectively, to build railways and to work in the banana industry and build the Panama Canal. Additionally Jamaicans also migrated in lesser numbers to Nicaragua, Guatemala, Belize, Honduras, and Cuba to work in among other development project such as banana plantations and Forestry Projects.

Migration Pattern of Jamaicans in the Modern Era

Traditional Destination Countries

During the post-World War II era there was mass migration from Jamaica to the United Kingdom. Four Hundred and Ninety-Two persons journeyed on the HMS Empire Windrush arrived at the Tilbury Docks on the 22nd June 1948. They included masons, welders, carpenters, electricians, painters, cabinet makers, clerks and accountants.

Up to 1962, over 82,000 accepted the British Government’s invitation to assist with the reconstruction efforts to rebuild the country from the ravages of war. However, given the public outcry and fear displayed by the locals to the increasing numbers of non-white population, a stringent immigration law, entitled " The Commonwealth Immigrants Act in 1962” was implemented. Its purpose was to stem the flow of migrants entering Britain.

New opportunities for Jamaicans to emigrate emerged with the enactment of the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1965 in the United States of America, as well as the Immigration Appeal Board Act of 1967 in Canada. Both of these pieces of favourable legislation enabled the emigration of tens of thousands in specialized occupational classes.

Factors That Contributed to Migration

The main factors that led to this exodus of Jamaicans during this period were their ambitious search for better economic opportunities and the belief that their status would improve by migrating and family reunification. This resulted in the creation of Britain, Canada and the United States of America. The allure of higher incomes and International capital played a decisive role in influencing the direction of Jamaican labour to these countries. On the other hand, the implementation of more stringent immigration policies in destination countries have since significantly influenced the numbers of persons entering these host countries.

In the 1970s the total number of Jamaican emigrating was estimated to be 327,779. However, this number saw a reduction to 239,207 in the 1980’s and an even further decline during the 1990’s to 212,892³. During the period 1970-2016⁴ the number of Jamaicans initially migrating as legal permanent residents to traditional destinations showed 80.33% migrated to the United States of America, 16.96 % to Canada, and 2.71 percent to the United Kingdom.

Over time there has been a declining trend in the volume of migratory flows to all three destinations. The average number of Jamaicans going to the USA in the 1990’s fell by one third of the average for the 1970’s. Similarly, the numbers to Canada fell significantly in the 1980’s as compared to the 1970s. The migration pattern to the United Kingdom, which had declined dramatically by 1970, continued on its downward trajectory during the 1980’s and 1990’s and into the first decade of this current millennium.\(^5\) This is attributed to opening up of opportunities in emerging markets such as the Caribbean and the Middle East coupled with restrictive immigration policies of the major destination countries.

The Chart below illustrates migratory pattern of the Diaspora to the three main destination countries, USA, UK and Canada over the period 2001-2015:

Jamaican Emigration to the main migration Destinations by Decade 1970’s -2015 (In Thousands)

In the new millennium, in the period 2000–2010, the total number of Jamaicans who migrated to USA, UK and Canada was 254,655. This included 196,665 (77.2%) to the

\(^5\) Elizabeth Thomas Hope: Migration in Jamaica – A Country Profile 2018
USA, 55,962 (13.3%) to the UK and 24,028 (9.4%) to Canada. Of the total emigrants to the USA nearly one quarter (24%) were under the age of 18 and over one-half were in the primary working age cohort of 18-44 years. A further 116,739 were classified as having “no occupation” or “no occupation” reported. The number of Jamaican emigrants entering the labour force in the USA (2000-2010) was 45,640. More than half the number (59.6%) was in the Services industry while about 17% were categorised as “Management Professional, Executive and Professional Speciality.

The majority of emigrants to Canada over the same period were classified as non-workers, new workers, homemakers, students or retirees. Of the total number of emigrants more than one third was under the age of 20 and 42 percent were between the ages of 20 and 39 years. The United States of America continues to be the most attractive destination for the majority of Jamaican emigrants followed by Canada and the United Kingdom.

Migration to Non-Traditional Destination Countries

Since the 1990s, there has been a significant increase of Jamaicans migrating to Africa, the Caribbean, the Far East; and Middle East. The main motivation was the increasing employment opportunities and attractive remuneration especially, in critical professional categories. It was during this period that a significant number of teachers, nurses and other professionals were recruited by developed and emerging economies. This has led to a staggering decline of professionals locally.

Size and Geographical Distribution of Diaspora

The Diaspora consists of first generation Jamaicans and their descendants of up to five generations. The specific size of the Diaspora population is undetermined, however a working estimate is 3 million\textsuperscript{10} half of that number some, 1.5 million represent the first generation\textsuperscript{11}.

As referenced before the majority of Jamaicans abroad reside in the USA, Canada, and United Kingdom. There are smaller numbers of Jamaicans in the Cayman Islands, The Bahamas and Trinidad and Tobago, Barbados as well as other countries in the Eastern Caribbean such as Antigua and Barbuda and Sint Maarten. Additionally, Jamaicans may be found in Europe, the Middle East, Asia and Oceania. See table on statistics from selected countries. (Annex 1).

Jamaican Diaspora in the United States of America
The Diaspora population in the USA is estimated at 998,000 (American Community Survey Report June 2013). The largest Community is located in metropolitan centres of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut. The next largest concentration of Diasporans resides in the South East region, mainly in Miami, Orlando and Tampa in Florida; Atlanta Georgia; and Houston, Texas. There are fewer numbers in the west and Midwest regions.

Jamaican Diaspora in Canada
The size of the Jamaican Diaspora in Canada stands at 309,485 with the majority residing in the Province of Ontario. There are approximately 257,055 residing in the Province of Ontario who cited their ethnicity as being Jamaican. A significant number of Jamaicans also live in other provinces including Quebec, Alberta, British Colombia, Saskatchewan and Nova Scotia. (Canada Census 2016).

Jamaican Diaspora in the United Kingdom
The size of the UK Diaspora is estimated to be 143,000 (Office of National Statistics UK 2011) with most of these persons living in Greater London. Significant numbers of Jamaicans are to be found in Birmingham, Bristol, Gloucester, Leeds, Manchester, Nottingham, Preston, Sheffield, Wolverhampton, among other areas.

\textsuperscript{10} Prof. N. Ying, JDI, 2014 – Summery of Size and Geographical Distribution of the Jamaican Diaspora
\textsuperscript{11} 2011 UK Census Office of National Statistics
PROFILE OF JAMAICAN DIASPORA

The Jamaican Diaspora is diverse in composition. It must be noted that the Jamaican-born tertiary-educated residing abroad was estimated 2010/2011 to be 48.1% of the total population of tertiary educated in Jamaica. Additionally, there exist a large cohort of second, third and fourth generation Jamaicans who are highly educated.\(^\text{12}\)

The first-generation emigrants are advanced in age given the period in which they left Jamaica. New migrants are more youthful and of working age. Therefore, the age profile of the Jamaicans in each destination country will reflect the length of time in which the community of migrants has been resident in their respective location. The second, third and fourth generations are a younger population\(^\text{13}\).

The gender composition of the migrants tends to fluctuate. Below age 20, females outnumber males; however, from 20 - 49 years the pattern changes from year to year. After age 49 the females usually outnumber the males.\(^\text{14}\)

Diaspora Organizations

There are large numbers of Jamaican Diaspora organizations in the three major Diaspora locations as shown below:

Diaspora organisations have historically among other functionalities, been instrumental in remitting philanthropic donations to Jamaica. These gifts are largely sent to schools, hospitals and clinics, churches and in some cases, to individuals in desperate need.

An assessment of these groups and associations (Ying et al, 2010, op cit) indicate that they are organized around major areas of needs. These were clustered as follows:

a. Education
b. Charitable Foundations
c. Social Services
d. Healthcare
e. Business, Investment, Trade

It should be noted that the activities of these groups and associations are not limited to members of the Diaspora, but also to serve the needs of individuals in Jamaica.

Needs Served by Diaspora Groups and Associations:

1. Education:

   Education interest groups in the Diaspora, in particular alumni associations make significant contributions to a variety of educational institutions.

Diaspora groups and associations which include but are not limited to Alumni Associations, Nurses Association, Religious Affiliations, Private Group, Teachers Networks and the Diaspora Education Taskforce, provide the following:

- Financial assistance, infrastructure and services to education institutions in Jamaica.
- Professional skills and best practices
- Social network for members in the Diaspora locations
- Professional development workshops for middle and senior management in select educational institutions.

2. Charitable Foundations:
These are legal entities for delivering social services and financial support for activities in the Diaspora as well as Jamaica.

3. Social Services:
These groups and associations provide a range of social services, namely, counselling, mentoring, and mediation, for members and groups primarily in Diaspora locations and to a lesser extent in Jamaica. They include:

a. Youth Clubs and Youth Leadership Organizations
b. Cultural Clubs and Organizations
c. Faith-based Organizations

4. Healthcare:
An estimated 300 medical missions visit Jamaica annually from the United States of America, Canada and the UK. They provide a wide range of services free of cost inclusive of general surgery, vision screening, dental, ophthalmology, immunization and pharmaceutical services. The medical teams also donate medical equipment and pharmaceutical supplies and contribute to infrastructure development of hospitals and health centres.
5. Business, Investment and Trade:
There are several trade organisations based in the metropolitan centres of the USA, particularly in Connecticut, Florida and Georgia which facilitate trade in goods and services with Jamaica. There is a need to expand these organisations across Diaspora regions and countries and create business networks thereby strengthening linkages and relationships with the Jamaican private sector.

STRATEGIC VALUE OF THE JAMAICAN DIASPORA

It has been recognised that Jamaican nationals abroad represent an abundance of human and financial capital, relationships, skills and expertise. In 2016, the Economic Growth Council (EGC) indicated in its publication Call to Action that optimising the power of the Jamaican Diaspora was identified as a key element that would assist in driving the country’s economic growth agenda.

In an effort to facilitate and enable greater interaction between the Diaspora and Jamaica, the EGC proposed several initiatives that are being due consideration, inclusive of the repurposing of the Jamaican Diaspora Foundation and Jamaica Diaspora Institute, issuance of a Diaspora Bond, creation of business networks and the establishment of a One Stop Shop for Diaspora investor requests, among others.

Export of Non-traditional Foods
With respect to trade, the Diaspora represents a key market for Jamaica’s exports, particularly for non-traditional export foods. With the steady increase in the number of Jamaicans residing in the United Kingdom, the USA and Canada, the demand for Jamaican domestic produce increased giving rise to a market for local fruits, vegetables, ground provisions, sauces, condiments and bakery products.

Top agricultural exports to the UK, USA and Canada are yams, sweet potatoes, papaya, dasheen, pumpkins, mangoes, breadfruit, callaloo, and cake. During the period 2005 and 2013, the major market for agricultural exports was the USA. In 2017 total exports grossed USD$554,052 compared to USD$464,660 the previous year. The outlook for non-traditional exports to the three main destination countries remains positive as the demand for indigenous food products gradually increases.

Diaspora Philanthropy

Jamaicans abroad have an abiding affinity to Jamaica and in this regard, continue to make significant donations to their communities, educational and health institutions. According to statistics from the Health for Life and Wellness Foundation of the Ministry of Health contributions received from the Diaspora and Friends of Jamaica for the period January to December 2017 amounted to USD$9,129,499.27. These groups and associations facilitate the provision of free medical services to underserved populations across Jamaica.

Similarly, the education sector receives significant support from the Diaspora inclusive of alumni associations and other charitable organisations. This support is in the form of scholarships, grants, educational materials and equipment. Contributions processed through the National Education Trust (NET) in 2018 stands at US$184,307.51, the majority coming from the USA. There is no data on the quantum of contributions received from the network of Alumni Associations in the USA and Canada.

Diaspora Savings and Investments Potential

The current value of Diaspora Investment in Jamaica is US$1.2 billion. According to a study conducted by CAPRI on the Economic Value of the Diaspora, there are three principal areas in which the Diaspora invests in Jamaica, namely, investments in banks, business and the stock exchange. It is imperative that greater efforts be made to attract more Diaspora investments in economic development projects.

Remittances
It is recognised that the Diaspora contributes a significant portion of the country's foreign exchange earnings. It is estimated that Jamaica receives USD$2.2 billion annually in remittances which represent 16% of the country’s Gross Domestic Product\(^1\). More than ninety percent (90%) of the total remittances received in Jamaica originate from the three countries with the highest concentration of the Jamaican Diaspora – Canada, USA and the UK (CAPRI 2017). Remittances are crucial to the livelihood of thousands of families in Jamaica. In a survey conducted by the Bank of Jamaica (BOJ) in 2010, it was revealed that approximately 85% of remittances were utilised for the payment of utility bills as well as to cover basic consumption expenses.

Diaspora Tourism
Data from the Jamaica Tourist Board has provided data for the period 2015 – 2017 which indicates that the Jamaican Diaspora accounts for approximately 7% of all stop over visitors to the island. It is significant to note that the data may be understated with respect to the total Jamaican Diaspora arrivals as those Jamaicans that have acquired a foreign passport and use it to enter the island are considered as “Foreign National Arrivals”. Therefore, there is a percentage of Jamaicans who live abroad and who travel to Jamaica on foreign passports that are not accounted for in the data\(^2\).

The chart below illustrates Diaspora stop-over arrivals as tourists during the period 2015-2017:

\(^{1}\text{Economic Value of the Jamaican Diaspora: CAPRI May 2017}\)
\(^{2}\text{Jamaica Tourist Board, Research and Market Intelligence Department 2019}\)
There is a need to devise targeted programmes for the various segments of the Diaspora population based on their locations. This is of particular relevance to the younger generation. This is one of the issues that will be addressed in the Policy.

DIASPORA CHALLENGES

The Diaspora, especially in the principal destination countries face wide ranging socio-cultural challenges which impact not only their well-being but also the sustainability of Jamaican communities. The challenges are related to the imposition of harsh immigration legislation, discrimination and deportation.
Stringent Immigration Legislation

With respect to immigration legislation, the USA implemented the “Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act” in 1996 which continues to have far reaching implications. The Act expanded the categories of criminal offenses inclusive of those previously regarded as removable offences, new definitions of crimes of moral turpitude. Further the law became retroactive with the resulting effect of doubling the numbers of Jamaicans removed from the USA. With technological advancement, law enforcement bodies are now interconnected which allows easier identification and detection of persons who may have an immigration violation. Added to this, is the provision where Lawful Permanent Residents are required to renew their “green cards’ every ten years. This now subject them to new background checks which trigger an enquiry by the relevant authorities if they have an offence.

Over the last two years, the United States Government has strengthened its resolve to tighten its borders and develop a comprehensive plan for immigration reform. One aspect addressed persons who came to the USA as children known as the “dreamers”. They were offered temporary protection under the Deferred Action for Early Childhood Arrival. Under the plan, those who meet education and work requirements and show good moral character will be able to obtain a work permit. Some 6,000 Jamaicans who fall in the aforementioned category would obtain protection from deportation. This Executive Order is now the subject of legal challenges by the current Administration.

Another potential threat that would impinge on migration of Jamaicans to the USA is the possible implementation of the legislation that would curtail US citizen siblings to sponsor their Jamaican siblings. This is a very important category which has led to the migration of thousands of Jamaicans to the USA.
Windrush Immigration Crisis

In the UK, the Windrush Generation and their descendants have been adversely affected by successive immigration legislative changes culminating in a Bill passed in 2014 that required systematic checks of one’s immigration status, including when opening a bank account, securing driving license, renting accommodation and accessing the National Health Service. Thousands lost their jobs, housing, welfare and pension benefits and ultimately their livelihood because they were unable to provide sufficient documentary or other evidence to substantiate their claims to having been long term residents with a right to remain in the UK. The resultant effect was those who could not prove their right to remain in the UK were subjected to removal orders, confined for extended periods in detention centers while seeking legal appeals and indeed scores were deported, some wrongfully.

The Government of Jamaica played a proactive role in advocacy, information sharing, daily monitoring of developments, and provided feedback and updates. The plight of our UK Diaspora was escalated to the highest levels of the UK Government resulting in their apology for the handling of the Windrush Immigration Crisis and thereafter there was an articulation of procedural steps to assist those affected. The Government of Jamaica reaffirmed that every effort should be made to ensure that the injustices experienced by the Windrush Generation victims should be redressed so that they are able to feel a sense of the restoration of the dignity of which they have been robbed.

The matter of compensation for victims remains a priority issue. The UK Government instituted a Windrush Compensation Consultation with the assistance of an Independent Advisor of Caribbean heritage. The Government of Jamaica, for its part, made a submission with respect to the design of the compensation scheme. The details of the final Compensation Package are to be revealed in March 2019.
Discrimination

A major challenge of the Diaspora is discrimination especially as it relates to policing. In Canada, the Community Contacts Policy otherwise referred to as “Carding” has significantly affected minority communities over many years. The practice which dates back to 1957 involves the random stopping and questioning of individuals not suspected of any offence or suspicious activity. These checks also involve the supplying of identifying information which is recorded in law enforcement databases.

Over the last several years street checks have been subject to increasing scrutiny given its disproportionate number of information on minority groups, particularly blacks being recorded in the law enforcement database. Instead of capturing people involved in criminality, it has recorded the identity and personal information of individuals who did not have any criminal history. There are significant ramifications for the Jamaican Diaspora Community as negative contact with the police erodes trust and confidence, reducing levels of co-operation and support of the law enforcement officials. Additionally, the stigma derived from negative interactions with law enforcement, even while innocent, can potentially impact their immigration status and ability to find work, access social welfare services as well as housing.

In 2017, Canadian Government appointed Jamaican Diasporan, Justice Michael Tullouch to conduct an independent review to assess the effectiveness of new regulations, introduced in 2016. The regulations indicated that individuals should be duly informed by Police that they would not be required to provide identifying information during street checks.

Justice Tullouch’s Report included wide ranging recommendations inclusive of the methodologies being utilised by the Police; the discontinuation of the random collection of personal information of individuals randomly stopped by the Police; definition of the terms ‘identifying information’ as well as ‘suspicious circumstances’.
The Windrush Immigration Crisis and Carding in Canada are but two examples of critical issues which adversely impact our Diaspora’s well-being. The Government’s role in the promotion and protection of the Diaspora’s wellbeing and welfare will be dealt with in crosscutting thematic areas in the Policy.

Key Challenges Informing the Thematic Areas of the Policy

The above situational analysis has identified some of the critical challenges which the Government of Jamaica has to consider in the Policy and in elaborating an Action Plan.

These include:

- Creating a governance mechanism that facilitates human and capital transfers, Diaspora investor requests and Diaspora philanthropy. This will require a public-private partnership to finance and staff this entity. A small Diaspora Affairs Department does not have the capacity to manage the ranges and complexity of activities.

- Streamlining the procedures for philanthropic donations which continue to be a source of concern from the Diaspora notwithstanding the strides made.

- Establishment of a singular communication network and platform to disseminate information to the Jamaican Diaspora globally.

- Enhancing service delivery to Jamaicans worldwide which must be factored into the strategic business plans of Ministries, Departments and Agencies and as well as the private sector.

- Improving data collection and research on the size, composition, location and experiences of the Jamaican Diaspora which would give a better profile of individuals and communities in their respective locations. Further, the data and research will inform engagement strategies, particularly those geared to enhance the welfare and wellbeing of the Diaspora, the development of targeted initiatives including those related to trade, investment and the tourism sectors.

- Attracting and building the relationship with the younger generation so that they maintain an affinity with Jamaica. This is critical given the ageing of the first generation that migrated in the early years.

- Reducing the high levels of crime in Jamaica which impact the Diaspora's confidence to either return to live, undertake short term consultancies or invest in Jamaica.

- Reducing the transaction cost of remittances, in addition to promoting financial literacy and programmes for recipients.

- Addressing the lack of portability of social security benefits for Diasporans when they return to Jamaica.

The abovementioned challenges indicate the need to develop a structured framework which will guide the engagement of the Diaspora in all its dimensions. It is also critical that the necessary resources are provided to ensure the successful implementation of the Policy.
3. THE NATIONAL DIASPORA POLICY

3.0 Vision Statement
Transformative engagements and partnerships providing an enabling environment for the empowerment of the Jamaican Diaspora to realize their fullest potential and enhance their wellbeing while optimizing contributions to national development.

3.1 Guiding Principles
There will be ten broad philosophies that encompass the beliefs and values of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Foreign Trade and that will serve to guide its operations in Diaspora matters irrespective of changes in its goals, strategies or operations.
The guiding principles will foster not only a culture of understanding of the importance of the Diaspora to Jamaica’s sustainable development path but also provide a foundation that underpins the conceptualisation and context of the policy.

a. Patriotism
National identity, pride and cultural affinity with “Brand Jamaica” are tenets which will be embraced by all Jamaicans, at home and abroad, and future generations.

b. Inclusive Participation
Provide all stakeholders with sustainable opportunities for inclusion, participation and contribution to development dialogue and processes, regardless of sex, age, disability, health, socio-economic status or religion.

c. Trusted Partnerships
Advocate collaborative efforts that promote trust and confidence in the design, implementation, monitoring and evaluation of Diasporic interventions and relations in host countries and in country of origin.

d. Intergenerational Engagements
Recognize the value of engagement and involvement of Jamaicans and their descendants that reside in host countries.

e. Respect for Human Rights and Gender Equity Guarantee and affirm an equitable platform that recognizes the inherent dignity, inalienable rights and nondiscriminatory practices in the delivery of goods and services, access and utilization of resources and opportunities regardless of gender.
f. Evidence-based Approach Commit to continuous data collection, research, monitoring and evaluation in its approaches in diasporic engagements, interventions and relations.

g. Mutuality
Serve the interest of Jamaica and its Diaspora

h. Communication
Facilitate open, transparent flows of information and data in a timely manner enabling knowledge sharing and informed decision making

3.2 Pillars of the Policy

The Pillars of the National Diaspora Policy is adopted and reflective of the 5Ps of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) – People, Planet, Prosperity, Peace and Partnership.

![Image of the 5Ps of the SDGs]

The interlinkages and integrated nature of the Diaspora Policy are of crucial importance in ensuring that the purpose of the new agenda is realized. If we realize Jamaica’s ambitions across the full extent of the Policy, the lives of all will be profoundly improved and transformed for the better.
In the context of the National Policy on Diaspora, strategies that will stimulate actions in areas of critical importance will be centred around:

- People – Jamaicans and their descendants at home and abroad end poverty and hunger, in all their forms and dimensions, and to ensure that all human beings can fulfil their potential in dignity and equality and in a healthy environment.

- Planet - places of origin and destination protect the places of origin and destination from degradation, including through sustainable consumption and production, sustainably managing its natural resources and taking urgent action on climate change, so that it can support the needs of the present and future generations.

- Prosperity - well-being of Jamaicans and their descendants ensure that all human beings can enjoy prosperous and fulfilling lives and that economic, social and technological progress occurs in harmony with nature.

- Peace – Jamaican communities
  foster peaceful, just and inclusive societies which are free from fear and violence. There can be no sustainable development without peace and no peace without sustainable development.

- Partnerships
  mobilize the means required to implement this National Policy through revitalised global partnerships based on a spirit of strengthened global solidarity, focussed in particular on the needs of the poorest and most vulnerable.
3.3 Policy Goals

The Diaspora Policy goals are a universal call to action for strategic partnerships to ensure that the Diaspora is empowered to reach their fullest potential in the countries where they reside; enjoy peace and prosperity; and contribute to the sustainable development of their homeland, Jamaica.

The aim of the national Diaspora Policy is to establish a framework for the coordinated engagement of the Diaspora through the realization of the following key objectives:

Goal 1: Increase Diaspora engagement and participation in national development planning

Goal 2: Facilitate and recognize Diaspora institutional mechanisms, networks and partnerships

Goal 3: Create enabling environments that optimize Diaspora investment, trade and advocacy

Goal 4: Promote research and measurement of Diaspora contributions to development

Goal 5: Enhance service delivery to Diaspora populations

Goal 6: Promote human capital exchanges, return and integration of diaspora populations

Goal 7: Promote the wellness and safety of members of the Diaspora and Jamaican communities at home and abroad

3.4 Policy Outcomes

The inter-linkages among the pillars, guiding principles and the attainment of the goals will assist Jamaica by 2030 to:
a. Develop and implement strategies that strengthen Diasporic outreach, empowerment, engagement and relations
b. Provide guidance for the design, implementation and monitoring of initiatives that facilitate Diaspora participation in national development
c. Maintain and create standards and guarantees to enhance wellbeing of diaspora in host countries.
d. Improve inter-sectoral coordinated partnerships that provide mutual benefits and opportunities for investments.
e. Enhance measures to improve service delivery and protection of the Diaspora and their rights.
f. Create platforms for the value measurement of the Diaspora and their contributions to development at home and abroad.
g. Catalyze the implementation of strategic programmatic interventions that promote and incentivize investment, exchanges and transfers of human, social and economic capital.
h. Align legislative provisions with agreed and approved Diasporic reform provisions.

3.5 Policy Thematic Areas, Statements and Strategies

The GOJ and its partners will pursue strategies and actions under the following ten thematic areas:

1. Socio-economic engagement and involvement
2. Human exchanges, transfers and philanthropic initiatives
3. Integration and reintegration
4. Economic inflows, investments and trade
5. Safety and security
6. Governance
7. Engagement of Diaspora Youth and Young Adults
8. Diaspora Tourism and cultural exchanges and inclusions
9. Legislative and policy reform
10. Data and Information

Actions pursued under each thematic area will aid in accomplishing one more of the stated Policy goals and the synergies among the thematic areas will undoubtedly lead to the realization of the shared vision for the Jamaican Diaspora.

3.5.1 Socioeconomic Engagement and Involvement

The Government of Jamaica understands the importance of engaging its Diaspora and facilitating their participation in national development, inclusive of dialogue and processes. Engagement and participation methods will also facilitate and present avenues for the Diaspora to communicate their concerns, interest, opinions and recommendations on matters concerning their own well-being in countries where they reside, as well those affecting stakeholders residing in Jamaica.

Government and its partners will:

a. Assess the feasibility of establishing a Diaspora agency focused on strengthening and sustaining relationships and partnerships in the Diaspora
b. Develop a Road Map for Diaspora engagement and partnerships
c. Implement policies, programmes and projects that support the building of networks and synergies around national priorities
d. Promote good governance among Diaspora communities
e. Facilitate institutional strengthening programmes and initiatives between home and destination countries for Diaspora engagement
f. Increase opportunities for structured dialogue among Diaspora members and Jamaica’s Overseas Missions to discuss matters critical to Diaspora integration
g. Increase the use of technology to enable virtual interface between Diaspora and government representatives
h. Encourage the establishment of structures to enable active engagement on issues pertaining to the Diaspora’s well-being and welfare
i. Increase the number of Consulates-General in specific locations
j. Engage in bilateral and multilateral agreements on issues of diasporic importance
k. Forge partnerships with governments within traditional and non-traditional destination countries to promote dual citizenship and advocacy for voting rights in home country
l. Engage in Diaspora mapping and establish a Diaspora observatory to build an information base, social networks and connections with the Diaspora.

3.5.2 Human Capital Exchanges and Philanthropy

Improved human capital transfers will result from deliberate inclusion of the Diaspora in programmes which encourage brain circulation, virtual or physical participation, cyclical or permanent return of talent and expertise. This type of engagement and exchange serves Jamaican overseas, their businesses based in the Diaspora while simultaneously supporting Jamaican organizations in their bid to innovate and modernize markets internationally.

Government and its partners will:

a. Develop a database of persons in the Diaspora that can be utilized for opportunities in technical, scientific, and professional arenas, academic and entrepreneurial exchanges, job placements and consultancies as well as in research and development in Jamaica
b. Formulate and promote the visibility of sector and skill-specific groups/knowledge networks within the Diaspora, including lawyers, security experts, technology, science and innovation
c. Advertise government consultancies and contracts within the Diaspora
d. Strengthen engagement mechanisms with Diaspora partners and practitioners to fill resource and knowledge gaps
e. Create and sustain talent initiative programmes that utilize the skills, expertise and identification of opinion interlocutors within the Diaspora
f. Increase data collection and accounting of charitable donations from the Diaspora
g. Increase liaison between charities and philanthropic initiatives in the Diaspora and local planning and development agencies to ensure greater synchrony between donations and the developmental needs of communities and Jamaica at large.

3.5.3 Integration and Return

Recognizing that the overall health and wellness of emigrants is impacted by their physical and social surroundings and emotional and mental health, the ability to access supportive information, goods and services is critical for their integration in countries where they reside and their return to Jamaica.

The Government and its partners will:-

a. Improve awareness and understanding of emigrant and diaspora experience
b. Facilitate access to statutory and voluntary services in countries where the Diaspora resides
c. Support the integration of the aged, forced returnees, returning residents and vulnerable groups into Jamaican communities
d. Reduce logistical channels associated with return
e. Develop an emigrant support programme that provides guidance, direction and logistical support for settlement in host countries
f. Connect emigrants and Diaspora to local community based organizations that are linked to social development processes
g. Address on going social issues, including child protection, the need for increased opportunities for youths, women and excluded groups such as the disabled.
3.5.4 Economic Flows, Investments and Trade

A large Diaspora population in global markets, with a strong appetite and affinity for Jamaican culture, products and services is a valuable and growing market for Jamaican businesses and entrepreneurs. Diaspora capital markets can contribute significantly to national development by mobilizing savings for investments and providing long-term alternatives to facilitate wealth creation.

Given the critical nature of the relationship and linkages of economic remittances, investments and trade to Jamaica’s sustainable development, Government and its partners will:

a. Partner with private entities to facilitate research, dialogue, development and implementation for the safe and efficient transmission of remittances and promote financial literacy for migrants and recipients of their transfers to enhance volume, management and development impact of remittances.

b. Launch an education and public awareness campaign on the various uses of remittances

c. Mobilize remittances for investments and for national development purposes

d. Support the use of technology, for example mobile wallets to facilitate financial transactions for the unbanked sector of the Diaspora

e. Expand and strengthen existing transfer monitoring systems for remittances (inclusive of baseline, monitoring, impact evaluation) to estimate the overall impact of flows (to and from Jamaica) on national development.

f. Promote greater compliance and competition within the remittance transfer markets to facilitate further reduction in remittance charges and greater benefits to migrants and migrant households.

g. Create an enabling environment to attract Diaspora investments to foster entrepreneurship, business development, innovation, and direct investment (including Diaspora bonds, financial and money market instruments) for priority sectors of the economy.
h. Reevaluate regulatory framework for remittance industry
i. Developed a formalized approach to Diasporic trade with focus on fresh and processed foods
j. Develop an educational campaign to apprise the Diaspora of trade issues of concern to Jamaica arising from their markets to secure their support and involvement in advancing Jamaica’s interest

3.5.5 Safety and Security

The Government of Jamaica recognizes the impact of crime on its citizens at home and in the Diaspora, as well as its impact on the economy. It will continue to investigate and support measures for addressing this issue, through partnerships with the host country, the Diaspora and international development community. The Government will also undertake awareness-raising initiatives, including public education and advocacy aimed at empowering the Diaspora and those at home towards increasing formalization and reducing the risks for deviance and criminality.

Government and its partners will:

a. Heighten its engagement with its international partners, to address transnational criminal activity
b. Improve communication and exchange across relevant Ministries as well as with international development partners in addressing issues of transnational crime;
c. Strengthen linkages at the local government level to enhance the contributions of the diaspora in local sustainable planning processes
d. Enhance safety and security measures through the strengthening of immigration policies
e. Forge bilateral agreements which are geared at preventing clandestine migration, human trafficking and labour exploitation of Diaspora members with irregular migrant status
f. Implement policies that regularize Diaspora members’ immigration status

Revised - March 20, 2019
g. Provide strategies for the exchange of information across relevant Ministries, interstate agencies as well as IDPs to address trans-national criminal activities

h. Support crime prevention and reduction initiatives established by members of the Diaspora through partnership with key professionals such as lawyers, counsellors, alternative dispute resolution specialists

i. Establish public education programmes on security issues to assist members of the Diaspora with their resettlement and integration in Jamaica

j. Strengthen the linkages across MDAs to facilitate Diaspora Contribution at the national and sub national levels.

3.5.6 Governance

Governance, advocacy and policy coherence are indispensable agents to the integration of reciprocal Diaspora relations. Transparent, accountable and participatory governance structures allow for the agitation of increased development benefits and assist the Diaspora to fulfil their fullest potential in host countries. Transparency and accountability in governance are critical ingredients to enable policy coherence and the facilitation of advocacy.

Government and its partners will:

a. Enhance and enable diplomatic and consular representation and reach in host countries to cultivate confidence and trust in governance mechanisms

b. Build networks of business, professional and community leaders

c. Establish training and capacity building programmes for national and Diaspora institutions

d. Facilitate research cooperation between research institutions in the Diaspora and Jamaica

e. Support the strengthening of Jamaican associations and charitable foundations

f. Devise mechanisms and initiatives to extend its outreach to Jamaicans and their descendants who reside in countries outside of the major Diaspora locations
g. Examine legal and technical requirements needed for the participation of the Diaspora in their home country’s national democratic process

h. Support the design of public education campaigns that build awareness among Diaspora members of their rights and responsibilities in the countries where they reside, as well as provide information on policy changes that affect the wellbeing of the Diaspora.

3.5.7 Engagement of Diaspora Youth and Young Adults

It has become increasingly evident that the engagement of the second, third and fourth generation Jamaicans, especially the youth in the Diaspora is vital for the sustainability of the Diaspora movement. In that regard, the promotion of cultural connectivity and linkages, as well as the creation of a sense of identity are key elements to strengthen the affinity of young Diasporas with Jamaica.

Government and its partners will:

a. Devise special programmes aimed at connecting youth in the Diaspora with youth in Jamaica

b. Promote initiatives to encourage the second, third and fourth generation to become citizens of Jamaica

c. Facilitate cultural and educational exchanges aimed at fostering national affinity

d. Develop public private partnerships to allow for mentorship and coaching of youth in the Diaspora

e. Facilitate the development of a database of young professionals to leverage their skills and expertise

f. Develop specific tourism initiatives to attract the younger generation

g. Increase the number of festivals and events that promote Jamaica’s cultural heritage.

3.5.8 Diaspora Tourism and Exchanges

Recent emigrants are familiar with the culture and as such, Diaspora tourists are generally more willing to stay in locally owned or smaller accommodations (including with friends and relatives), eat in local restaurants, and buy locally-produced goods than other international travelers.

Diasporas can help open markets for new tourist destinations in their countries of origin. As Diaspora tourists travel to less-visited regions to see friends and family or participate in various cultural events, they will promote the creation of new restaurants, attractions, and general services for tourists outside of the major cities. These pioneering tourists might choose to invest in businesses in the region after making connections on their visits.

Government and its partners will:
a. Create programs dedicated specifically to Diaspora tourism
b. Offer educational and cultural exchange programs
c. Promote and support heritage and sporting events
d. Increase linkages among Jamaica’s cultural products and tourism industry, including hoteliers and tour operators e. Leverage the skills, expertise and the capital available within the Diaspora to create a strong community-centred tourism product
f. Explore and facilitate the development and implementation of an incentive programme geared towards medical, business, heritage and eco-tourism
g. Improve local capabilities to plan and develop controls and regulations, monitor and track approvals, service customers and enforce planning regulations
h. Implement talent imitative programme
i. Increase affinity of the Diaspora through sports partnerships with national sporting bodies.
The participation of the Diaspora in the areas of policy and legislation is to be accomplished through the inclusion of a member of the Diaspora with the appropriate area of expertise on policy development committees. In other instances, where policies and legislations are already in existence, efforts should be made, moving forward to include a member of the Diaspora on the implementation and review committees. The reality is that ICTs now affords the participation of the Diaspora in numerous areas of Jamaican life. As such, participation does not need always be physical but can be facilitated virtually.

Government and its partners will:

a. Amend and or formulate policies and pieces of legislation that encourage return migration
b. Review the transaction cost for returnees
c. Engage Diaspora in parliamentary processes as a part of proposed independent members of the Senate
d. Review Jamaican Constitution, Nationality Act and other relevant pieces of legislation relating to citizenship, rights attached to same and immigration
e. Examine provisions for unconditional landing status for second generation and beyond when holding a non-Jamaican passport
f. Mainstream Diaspora participation in the implementation and monitoring of existing policies

Generally there is dearth of consistent and reliable information on the Jamaican Diaspora. The lack of data affects the development of policies and strategies and hinders effective engagement. The government is aware that in order to develop robust... policies to inform and support the Diaspora’s welfare and well-being, timely, accurate and reliable data on size, location, composition and experiences are critical in ensuring engagement, analysis of migratory trends and development of bilateral agreements on migrants’ rights.

Mapping of the Diaspora and developing a methodological framework for estimating the Diaspora composition, experiences, skills and expertise and willingness to participate in areas of national development are some of the critical indicators required for robust planning.

The Government and its partners shall:

a. Create an integrated database with expanded migration indicators and systemically update datasets to meet current development needs
b. Promote and aggressively market Diaspora mapping in destination countries
c. Develop baseline indicators for setting benchmarks on Diaspora engagement and the expected benefits
d. Develop robust methodology to capture complex transnational migratory patterns
e. Publish annual statistics on Diaspora composition, skills, expertise as well as investment preference to facilitate Diaspora engagement
f. Develop a programme for linking websites in the public and private sectors in Jamaica and the Diaspora with vital Diaspora information

4. POLICY COHERENCE

The proposed policy is in keeping with the spirit, thrust and provisions of several national policies, legislation, and strategic documents. The policy recognizes the breadth and comprehensive nature of the interactions required for policy success, and underscores the high levels of integration expected within the society and economy.
Coherence is achieved not only through synergies among the policy documents, but also with regard to symbiosis of actions and focused development objectives.

The National Diaspora Policy is linked to Vision 2030 Jamaica — National Development Plan, the Medium Term Socio-Economic Framework which is influenced by the International Monetary Fund (IMF) Extended Fund Facility and policies which are linked to Jamaica’s International Migration and Development Policy (IMDP). The IMDP incorporates consideration of other related government policies and international and regional agreements.

4.0 Vision 2030 and Diaspora

The Diaspora is dynamically linked to the core goals of VISION 2030. The Jamaica Diaspora Policy aims to work in partnership with the Diaspora towards achieving the goals of national development expressed in Vision 2030 Jamaica – National Development Plan.

The figure below illustrates this.

Diaspora contribution

- Contributions of the Diaspora to education and healthcare
- Diaspora contribution of expertise in conflict resolution, and crime reduction.
- Diaspora contributions through Remittances, Capital Market and Investments, Venture Capital and Diaspora Visitors.
- Diaspora Human Capital transfers in Science and Technology for green industries and a green economy.

4.1 Medium Term Socio-Economic Policy Framework 2018-2021(MTF)
From the outset of Jamaica’s MTF, the large Diaspora was noted as one of the country’s main advantages. The aims of the MTF are also aligned to Vision 2030 and also notes a number of priority sectors for economic enhancement and competitiveness. These include the development of a logistics hub, ICT Parks, tourism and creative industries. These sectors are incorporated within the national Diaspora Policy as key areas in which the Diaspora is already engaged to different degrees and in which engagement can be enhanced in line with the MTF. Other areas relating to the environment and health and education are also prime areas for Diasporic involvement; particularly given the recognised role of the Diaspora in assisting the country in meeting healthcare and education and training needs.

The Strategic Growth Agenda which seeks at the same time to facilitate economic growth/employment has four (4) particular areas:

- Economic Growth/Job Creation
- The Logistics Hub Initiative
- MSME Sector/Entrepreneurship/Innovation
- Competitiveness/Ease of Doing Business.

By way of elaboration on the Logistics Hub Initiative, this intervention is envisaged to be a game changer that will see Jamaica graduate from the abovementioned decades of anaemic economic growth. A critical modality for the realization of the Hub Initiative is the public-private partnership (PPP) approach.

Also tied in with the Entrepreneurship/Innovation aspect of the Growth Agenda are the specific areas of ICT and animation. This is deemed to be an area that can make inroads against the high level of youth employment currently estimated at over thirty five percent (35%).
4.2 The National Policy on International Migration and Development Policy

The National Diaspora Policy is integrally related to Jamaica’s International Policy on Migration and Development (IMDP) and therefore is influenced by policies which are linked to the IMDP. See Appendix II. The IMDP notes that even though the Diaspora plays a significant role in Jamaican development, particularly through remittances and contributions to health and education, there is scope for tapping further into potential areas of the Diaspora, particularly in the areas of business, investments, trade and skills and technological transfers (IMDP, 2013:12). The National Diaspora Policy seeks to introduce policies and strategies aimed at addressing some of these challenges.

Jamaica has enacted several laws which are particularly relevant for the Diaspora and their ability to engage with Jamaica. These include the Charitable Organisations (Tax Harmonisation) (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 2013, which now makes it easier for the Diaspora to donate and partner with philanthropic and community groups at home, in key areas such as health and education, which have traditionally benefited from significant partnership with the Diaspora. Indeed, this marks a significant commitment by the Jamaican Government to ease the constraints faced by the Diaspora and their local partners in the area of philanthropy.

Key legislation relevant to the Diaspora includes those relating to citizenship, and the resulting rights attached to this status and immigration. These included are the Jamaican Constitution and the Jamaica Nationality Act. Of particular import for the involvement of the second and third generations are provisions allowing for a claim of citizenship by descent, for those whose parents or grandparents were Jamaican, as well as opportunities for unconditional landing status for the same group when holding a non-Jamaican passport.
5. STAKEHOLDERS ROLES

The thrusts and provisions of several national plans, policies, legislations and strategic programmes increasingly recognize the breadth and comprehensive nature of interactions necessary to harness the power of the Diaspora. To achieve this, efforts have to be timely, sequenced and integrated to bring about the desired reciprocal changes, outcomes and impact. Also, the management and facilitation of efforts have to be trusted and timely to ensure that the best interests of the plethora of diverse stakeholders are served.

5.0 Government of Jamaica

The Parliament, Ministries, Departments and Agencies of the Government acknowledge that their role in Diaspora partnerships is critical and assume responsibilities for same. GoJ defines its roles both as a driver and facilitator as it works to:-

- Build and transform capacities to meet the changing needs of the Diaspora in a more timely and meaningful manner
- Forge and maintain strategic partnerships at the sub national, national and international levels with interest groups, foreign governments and those with affinity to Jamaica; and serve the needs of persons who have left, need to leave or want to support Jamaican’s growth
- Recognize the value and worth of diasporic contributions to homeland and domicile countries
- Create an enabling environment that reduces the obstacles that hinder effective reciprocal engagement
- Catalyze the advancement of partnerships
• Implement a wide range of programmes and activities at the local, national and international levels that build on and develop two way Diaspora engagement.

5.1 Diaspora

As beneficiaries and partners, the Diaspora will play a crucial role in the development and implementation of the Diaspora Policy. This involves acting as investors, partners, marketers, networkers and key collaborators with the GoJ, businesses and civil society. The Diaspora will also be key informants and funders in the monitoring and implementation of this Policy.

The Diaspora Advisory Board, Foundations and Organizations in the Diaspora will be linked to institutional arrangements for Diaspora Administration and Governance.

5.2 Role of Private Sector

The private sector has historically been a role model in Diasporic engagement and has garnered much experiential knowledge through its years of offering goods and services to the Diaspora. The private sector will offer vital lessons to the Government on engaging with the Diaspora, as well as potentially assist in providing funding for the implementation of this policy. As the recipient of investments from the Diaspora, the private sector will also play an active role in helping to inform the development of investment options and awareness of opportunities for scaling up and diversifying the uses of remittances among recipients. The private sector is also well-placed to partner with the government in its effort to increase the amount of information on the Diaspora including their capacity, location, interests, resources and numbers and aid in the design of more targeted services and assistance. As such, public-private partnerships will be a definitive feature of the Policy, with private sector actions complementing those of the GOJ.
5.3 Role of Non-Government Organizations (NGOs) and Civil Society

This set of stakeholders include: academic institutions, voluntary and community groups, churches, the media and beneficiaries of the Diaspora’s philanthropy. These groups are important in encouraging engagement between the Diaspora and Jamaica, at the national and community levels and also serve as informants of needs. They also have a role to play in monitoring and evaluating the Policy for effectiveness and identifying areas for improvement.

The role of academic and research institutions is important in providing the site for the Diaspora to contribute their human capital and transfer of technology through partnerships and exchanges. Academic institutions will be the source of valuable research and insights in the implementation of this policy.

The media will play an important role by providing information, contributing to awareness raising and education to the public and communicating in a timely manner the achievements of the Diaspora policy.

5.4 Role of the International Community and Development Partners
This group has played a major role in the more recent evolution of engagement between Jamaica and its Diaspora. This has been through the information on best-practices, funding and technical assistance. It is expected that this form of engagement and support will continue with the international community acting as a key partner to the Government and people of Jamaica in assisting in the full implementation and review of this policy including assistance with funding.
6. FUNDING

The areas for funding for the implementation of the Diaspora Policy fall under the following major areas:

a. Strengthening the staffing of the Diaspora Affairs Department and Jamaica’s Overseas Missions in the MFAFT.
b. Staffing for the Secretariat for the Diaspora Coordinating Board
c. Technical studies, research and report commissioned by the Diaspora Coordinating Board
d. Enhancement of ICT capacity and usage to enable more effective communication between the Government and the Diaspora.

The Government is fully cognizant of the environment in which it currently operates. This is one marked by fiscal constraints and ongoing vulnerability to economic threats, which limit the extent to which the Government can fund the implementation of the strategies under the National Diaspora Policy. As such, the approach will be diversified sources of funding. Through the principles of partnership and mutual gain, the Government will adopt a proactive approach to identify financing to support the implementation of the National Diaspora Policy.

It is envisaged that core financing will come from the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Foreign Trade annual budgetary Support received from the Ministry of Finance.

6.0 Contributions from International Community and Development Partners

Recognising the sustained interest and the key role played by international development institutions in assisting Jamaica towards the development of its engagement with its Diaspora (e.g. the IMDP and National Diaspora Policy), the Government will approach this community for continued support under the National Diaspora Policy. It is recognized that the incentives for further collaboration reside not only on the side of Jamaica since further engagement in areas such as Diaspora mapping and other recommendations contained in the implementation plan offer this community an opportunity to develop best practices and tools that can potentially be replicated in other settings. Furthermore, host countries in which the Jamaican Diaspora currently have a sizeable population also represent a source of assistance, recognizing that the implementation of the recommendations contained within the National Diaspora Policy will also have positive consequences for these countries. As noted within the IMDP, financial support need not only be to Government but also directly to civil society organizations.

6.1 Contributions from the Private Sector

The local private sector has also been active partners and the Government of Jamaica will continue to encourage the development of strategic collaboration between the Diaspora and local businesses for mutual economic gain. The Remittance companies will be enlisted to provide financial support for implementation of the policy.

Additional opportunities exist for funding the various activities and goals under this policy. As such, the Government will collaborate with the private sector and other relevant public bodies to encourage the use of existing innovations and emerging developments in sourcing and distributing funds for project development at all levels, including national, community, as well as at the individual level. Opportunities for funding will also come from cost recovery from bodies providing services directly to the Diaspora.

6.2 Contributions from the Diaspora

Key partners will be constituents within the Diaspora through their roles as funders, marketers and networkers for Jamaica. This group has already demonstrated a desire to assist Jamaica in investment funds and charitable donations. Opportunities for funding will be created through greater variety of measures and opportunities for investing and charitable giving, including, the gift of money, time and skills, and direct engagement in initiatives that complement the activities of Government.
7. MONITORING AND EVALUATION

A Monitoring and Evaluation Framework and related systems will be developed and implemented to track the progress of the implementation of the policy. The focus of Monitoring and Evaluation (M&E) will be the efficiency and effectiveness of the strategies and expected results of the Policy and their impact on national development and the progress and prosperity of the Diaspora.

The Diaspora Coordinating Board (DCB) will have overall responsibility for the Monitoring and Evaluation of the Diaspora Policy. In executing this responsibility, the DCB will work in collaboration with the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Foreign Trade, the PIOJ and the NWGIMD.

The focus of this collaboration with the NWGIMD will be to:
1. Establish Performance indicators within a Logical Framework incorporating the Goals, Purpose, Outcomes, Key Expected results of the policy, means of verification of achievements, contingencies and key inputs – human and financial resources, physical facilities and ICT tools and equipment – for the efficient and effective implementation of the policy
2. Obtain research and mission critical data for M&E of the policy
3. Establish an ICT driven M&E Reporting system to indicate on a timely basis achievements, warning signals
5. Ensure that there is harmonization of the Diaspora Policy with the National Policy and Plan of Action for International Migration and Development.
There will be an overall review of the policy, in terms of its continuing relevance and impact every 6 years, consistent with the review cycle for the National Policy and Plan of Action for International Migration and Development.

The key bodies that will be involved in the overall policy review will be the Diaspora Coordinating Board, The Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Foreign Trade, the Cabinet and the Parliament.

APPENDIX 3 - LEGISLATIVE FRAMEWORK

The instruments listed below are selected based on their relevance to the eight thematic areas outlined in the policy. The approach is primarily to present a synopsis of the main elements of the laws and related instruments. A critical analysis of the adequacy of these laws pertaining to their linkages to development will be undertaken at a later stage.

MIGRATION LEGISLATION

- The Jamaican Constitution (Order in Council) 1962 is the highest law in Jamaica and gives force and effects to other laws of the country. It addresses relevant issues such as [a] citizenship; [b] fundamental rights and freedoms of individuals; [c] institutions which are forefront in the political governance of the country; [d] political representation; and [e] the roles of the executive and the judiciary in legal and economic development.

- The Charter of Fundamental Rights and Freedoms (Constitutional Amendment) Act (2011) addresses in total the fundamental rights and freedoms afforded to all Jamaicans (i.e., life, liberty, security of persons, freedom of thought, freedom of expression, opinion, freedom of assembly, freedom of movement, the right to equality before the law, rights of children, right to a passport, etc.). In addition, it also deals with protection of property rights, the right to due process, freedom of religion, and the status of marriage.

- The Jamaica Nationality Act (1962) examines the rights, procedures and conditions of accessing Jamaican nationality. The Act examines the [a] retention of nationality; [b] minors; [c] naturalization; [d] conditions regarding deprivation of citizenship; [e] evidence requirements for citizenship; and [f] regulations and offence.

- The Passport Act (1935) embodies the legal force of this identifying document to be used primarily for the purpose of international travel. It covers [a] document issue and renewal; [b] document validation; [c] power (through the Minister) of representative institutions overseas; [d] appointment of officers; [e] fees; and [f] offenses and penalties.

- The Aliens Act (1946) examines the [a] retention of nationality; [b] eligibility for admission and restriction on landing; [c] inspection and detention of aliens; [d] supervision and deportation of aliens; and [e] revocation and variation of orders.

- The Foreign Nationals and Commonwealth Citizens (Employment) Act (1964) addresses [a] employment controls of foreign nationals; [b] application for and production of work permits; and [c] offences and penalties.

- The Extradition Act (1991) deals with [a] extraditable offences; [b] application of provisions to stipulated Commonwealth and foreign states; [c] extradition to and from approved states; [d] proceedings for extradition; and [e] appeals and repeals (for Jamaica).

- The Immigration Restriction (Commonwealth Citizen) Act (1945) outlines provisions for [a] general powers of immigration officers; [b] prohibited immigrants; [c] persons deemed not prohibited; [d] certificate of identity upon re-entry; [e] orders for leave and removal; [f] extension of leave to remain; [g] in-transit passengers and crew; [h] visitors; [i] warrants and places of detention; and [j] recovery of expenses.

- The Emigrant Protection Act (1925) cover [a] application to leave the island; [b] need to procure a permit to travel; [c] powers of the Minister (country provisions, reparation fees etc.); [d] registration of recruiting agents; [e] obtaining documents by false pretenses; [f] offences for false documents; [g] penalties and the powers of constables; and [h] agreement with foreign country.

- The Caribbean Community Act (2005) encompasses [a] treaty having force of law; [b] financial provisions; [c] evidence; [d] objectives of the Community; [e] non-discrimination; [f] the organs of the Community and their roles; and [g] Councils for Human and Social Development, and Foreign and Community Relations.

- The Caribbean Community (Free Movement of Skilled People) Act (1997) incorporates provisions for [a] indefinite and provisional entry of skilled persons; [b] qualification and occupations required for the issue of a qualifying certificate; [c] spouses and dependents; [d] revocation of permission; and [e] offences and penalties.

- The Caribbean Community (Establishment, Services, Capital and Movement of Community Nationals) Act (2006) includes [a] the rights of establishment (movement of restrictions, and treatment of monopolies, etc.); [b] provision of services; [c] movement of capital and foreign exchange provisions; [d] safeguard measures, security restrictions; and [e] appeals.

TRADE AND INVESTMENT

- The Jamaica Promotions Corporation Act (1990) deals with [a] establishment and functions of the corporation (i.e., trade and industry, export, investment activities in all areas of the Jamaican economy, etc.); [b] financial powers of the organization; and [c] regulations and exemptions from stamp duties.

- The Export Industry Encouragement Act (1956) deals primarily with [a] applications; [b] powers of the Minister with regard to approval of manufacturers of products and discretionary powers to refuse approval; [c] concessions on import duty on raw materials, in bond production and relief from duty on plant; and [d] restriction of product sale in Jamaica.

- The Shipping (Incentives) Act (1979) deals primarily with [a] custom duty concessions and concession periods; [b] dividends; [c] provisions with regard to imported articles and ships; [d] records and returns; [e] transfer of shareholdings; and [f] penalties.
The Hotel Incentives Act (1968) focuses on [a] definition and declaration of approved enterprises; [b] applications for approval; [c] dividends; [d] customs duties and tax benefits; and [e] offences and penalties.

INTERNATIONAL AGREEMENTS AND DEVELOPMENT AREAS

- Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR) 1948 was adopted by the United Nations General Assembly in 1948. It is a pioneering instrument representing a global expression of rights entitled to all human beings. It consists of 30 articles, elaborated in international treaties, regional human rights instruments, national constitutions and laws.

- The Hague Convention 1930 was a codification conference held in The Hague to formulate acceptable rules. The Convention recognizes the right of each state to determine its nationality laws while recognizing the nationality laws of other states. This covers the nationality of married women and children. Only certain questions on the conflict of nationality laws were agreed upon at this Convention, however, this subsequently motivated the United Nations to strive for a permanent commission (International Law Commission) to proceed with the codification of international law.

- International Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Racial Discrimination (ICERD) 1965, of which Jamaica is a signatory (signed August 1966 and ratified June 1971), commits members to condemn racial discrimination and pursue means to eliminate all forms of racial discrimination and racial segregation. Currently there are 86 signatories and 175 parties.

- International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights (ICESCR) 1966 is a treaty aimed at ensuring that the economic, social and cultural rights of individuals are protected. It includes the right to self-determination, the right to non-discrimination, the equal rights of men and women, the right to work, the right to form trade unions, the right to health and the right to an adequate standard of living. The Covenant, as of July 2011, has 160 parties. Jamaica was a signatory on December 1966 and ratified the treaty on October 1975.

- International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (ICCPR) 1966 states that every human being has the inherent right to life, which shall be protected by law, and no one shall be arbitrarily deprived of his life. The treaty also speaks to the right of each individual to freely determine his/her political status and the equal right of men and women to enjoy their civil and political rights. Jamaica was a signatory on December 1966 and ratified on October 1975. As of March 2012 the Covenant has 74 signatories and 167 parties.

- Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination Against Women (CEDAW) 1979 commits states to condemn discrimination among women and pursue measures to eliminate discrimination against women. It stipulates that states commit to the full development and enhancement of women. Jamaica was a signatory in July 1980 and ratified the Convention in October 1984. As of July 2011, 187 states have ratified the treaty. The United States of America is the only developed nation that has not ratified the treaty.

- Convention on the Rights of the Child (CRC), 1989 - under this convention, a child is deemed to be any human being not yet attaining age eighteen (18), unless under a state’s own domestic legislation majority is attained earlier. This treaty speaks to the rights of the child. It commits states to taking appropriate measures for ensuring that the child is protected against all forms of discrimination or punishment. It stipulates that all actions concerning children shall have the best interests of the child as a primary consideration. Jamaica signed the treaty in January 1990 and ratified in May 1991.

- Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities, 2006 promotes, protects and ensures the full and equal enjoyment of all human rights and fundamental freedoms by all persons with disabilities, and to promote respect for their inherent dignity. As of July 2012 there are 153 signatories and 117 parties. Jamaica signed and ratified this instrument on March 2007.

- The American Convention on Human Rights, 1969 commits states to ensuring that persons are free and that the rights and freedom of those persons are recognized without discrimination. Jamaica signed and ratified this convention.

promotes cooperation to prevent and combat transnational organized crime. It consists of three protocols:
  i. Protocol to prevent, suppress and punish trafficking in persons, especially women and children
  ii. Protocol against smuggling of migrants by land, sea and air
  iii. Protocol against the illicit manufacturing and trafficking in firearms.

Jamaica signed on September 2001 and ratified on September 2003. As at August 2012, the Convention had 147 signatories and 170 parties.

- General Agreement on Trade and Services (GATS), 1995 is a treaty of the World Trade Organization created to extend multilateral trading to the service sector. All members of the WTO are signatories to GATS.

- The CARICOM Single Market and Economy (CSME) is aimed at creating one large market among participating states. The key elements of the CSME include the free movement of goods and services, the free movement of labour, the free movement of capital and a common trade policy.
